This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

PREFACE.

In presenting to the Subscribers this the Ninth Volume of the Coursers Annual, allow me to tender my most sincere thanks for the great benefits which I have received at the hands of those gentlemen who have so kindly assisted me; but lest I should omit from my enumeration any one kind friend, I deem it more prudent not to particularize any, but to say that one and all have rendered me such material service that I may, I think, with confidence, congratulate my readers on the deficiency in the pedigree list being much smaller than hitherto, and that the willingness to furnish them appears to be on the increase; I therefore flatter myself that such deficiency will continue to decrease for the future; and in order to further it, it is my intention to send to individual members of clubs, as well as to their secretaries, papers to fill up with the names and colours of their dogs, the names of the sire and dam, with the names of their owners; the latter, I do, as a particular favour, request, for there are such numbers of dogs at present bearing the same name that it is utterly impossible to fix upon the real owners, more especially since railways have brought places so contiguous. In reading over the puppy entries for 1849, you will understand the perplexity with which we are enveloped, but you will perceive that to the sires and dams I have affixed the names of persons—for to give the name of sire and dam without that of their owners is, under such circumstances, almost as ridiculous as to say, Mr. Dewar's Deathblow by dog out of bitch—who (after searching through the 8 vols. of "Thacker") I suppose to be the present and bona fide owners, but I entertain very painful feelings as to their correctness—and how can it be otherwise, when I point out such as the following: In the Malleny entry Mr. C. Dunlop has a bitch called Blossom—how many Blossoms have burst upon the coursing public I do not pretend to say; they are numerous: however, the said bitch is by Rufus out of Vixen. Whose is this Rufus? There have been four or five dogs of that name, but we will suppose that he puts his bitch to a winner: well, there have been three Rufuses winners. We will further reduce them: one, Mr. Taylor's, is an English dog, and we have left two, one late Lord Eglinton's, now Mr. Wilsons, the other Mr. Greenshield's: being nearer home, we will fix upon one of the Scotch dogs; but which am I to take. I proceed to the dam and find out to whom she belongs, and that may perhaps afford some clue. Well, I find that the last person who entered Vixen was Mr. Greenshield. Ah, now I have it! he has a Rufus, and that must be the one we want; but as they say, to make assurance doubly sure, I wrote to Mr. C. Dunlop, who kindly and immediately answered my letter, and I was much surprised to learn that the Rufus was Mr. Wilson's. Further, there have been two Iron Dukes, two Gaberlunzies, and several Rubies. You will likewise find in the Malleny entry, under Mr. C. T. Ellis's name, Mary Renton and Maggy Ramsay, by Miltown; and in the Biggar and North Berwick entries they are said to be by Milton. Now which is the correct one. Dr. Brown had a bd dog called Miltown, and for two years, 1846-7, that dog was entered in Mr. T. C. Ellis's name, and Mr. T. C. Ellis owned a r and w d called Milton. By referring to Vol. V, pages 190 and 191, both may be seen, the one entered by Col. Cathcart, the other by Dr. Brown. Look at the names given to their pups: it was only at the last Malleny meeting that Mr. Ellis ran a pup of 1847 called Rob-the-Ranter, a winner: now we find Mr. Gibson with another Rob-the-Ranter, and others with the oft-repeated names of Ghost, Lass-o'-Gowrie, Gitania, Colonel, and Staxton—but in fact to name them all would take up too much of my time and too much of your patience. Can the necessity, then, for what I am fervently soliciting, be doubted: in short, I would have a law (as I believe to be in horse-racing) that when the entire particulars of the pedigree of a puppy are not correctly given, as to name, sire, dam, owner's names of sire and dam, and the exact date of birth, they should not be entitled to the stake, though winners; especially if 'THACKER' is to be of any utility, be strict in all your doings:—why should coursing lack laws, by which all other sports are governed? and what amusement stands more in need of stringent rules? And with regard to names, the shorter the better; we will excuse fresh-coined ones even, in order to avoid the hackneyed Flies, Rubies, Countesses, Empresses, and a whole host.

For the convenience of some coursers who may not be very familiarly acquainted with the several localities at which meetings are held, and with the different open stakes which do now exist, I have added a Map, with a Key, showing the route to each place, with the various inns at which a courser may be accomodated, and a list of the several open stakes, with the amount of entrance and an apportionment of the same; indeed, I may, without arrogance, declare, as regards the whole work, that no exertions or expense have been spared on my part to make it accurate and useful; and I trust that by the new matter now introduced it will be rendered worthy, in a much greater degree, of a more favourable and increasing reception than that which it has hitherto experienced from the coursing public.

And lastly, I trust that you will excuse me in this volume answering a note which appeared appended to the letter of "A Courser" in Bell's Life of the first of October last. My reason for introducing it in this place is as follows: I wrote a letter, in answer to it, to be inserted in Bell's Life, but Mr. Clement declined publishing it, I fancy from its partaking of the character of an advertisement. The note ran thus:—

"In noticing above (i. e. in his letter) a very dear book, I believe the "compiler would greatly add to the profits of a non-patronised but very useful "book, if he published each volume at the original price of ten shillings "instead of one guinea. A reprint of Thacker's two first volumes in one, at "half a guinea, would pay, as there are hundreds of coursers who can only "borrow them now."

If "A Courser," (and I think that I could in less than two guesses name the party,) will borrow Vol. VII, and turn to page 9 in the preface, he will there find a very sufficient and excusable reason for increasing the price of the Annual. I will further add, that Mr. Thacker, for four years, published his work at ten shillings, and was a considerable loser by it, which Mrs. Thacker can testify; and I am confident the following gentlemen, who were his guarantees, will bear me out—Messrs. Slater, Graham, and Richardson. I tried it on for two more years, but was even more unsuccessful, from two causes—one, that between the publication of the fourth and fifth volumes two years had intervened, causing the work to be lost sight of by coursers, and therefore it was supposed that the book was given up; the other, that on the re-appearance of the fifth volume with the sixth, many persons declined taking it, stating that they had merely subscribed to it out of personal friendship to Mr. T. Under such circumstances I consulted with several friends, and was advised to raise the price to one sovereign. But let "A Courser" compare the first volume and the eighth; the former contains 246 pages, and the latter 323—nearly double the size. Let him calculate that for every additional sheet of 16 pages I pay £5, without naming my increasing trouble, and then say whether the book is a "very dear one." But I must say that if a man cannot afford to give one sovereign for a book, which is allowed to be so invaluable, he has no business with public coursing, for it is one of the most expensive recreations we have, if carried on with true sportsmanlike spirit. And now to answer the latter part of the note, with reference to the reprint, &c. The only difference that printing the two volumes in one would be in the binding, which would be about 50 shillings, for the single volume must of a certainty have, within a very few, as many pages as are now in the two. But at present there is no occasion for a reprint, for if "A Courser" will apply to Mrs. Thacker, of Osmaston Road, Derby; Mr. Richardson, of Manchester; or Mr. M'George, of Darlington, they can supply him with 200 each of Vols. I, II, III, IV, and V, and I can accommodate him with more than 200 each of Vols. VI, VII, and VIII.

I have only one more statement to make previous to my saying farewell to my subscribers for the present, which is, that I shall feel greatly obliged by their remitting, as soon as convenient, upon receipt of their copies, a post-office order; it would greatly accommodate me, as I have to pay my printer ready cash; besides, so trifling a sum is soon forgotten, and it is unpleasant for me to be compelled to remind parties of it: moreover, it entails upon me a further expense to which I ought not to be subjected.

Trusting that what I have written will not give offence, I commit my book once more to the coursing public,

And remain,

Their's most respectfully,

ROBERT ABRAM WELSH.

53, Brunswick Road, Liverpool.

P.S.—The reason why this book has not appeared so soon as usual, is the late period to which coursing is now protracted.

ERRATA.

Although I have made the following long list of corrections, it will be seen, on reference to the Stakes published in Bell's Life, and comparing them, that the majority of "Errata" are still doubtful; in fact, of so little consequence are they generally, that I might have passed them over, only that it would appear careless on my part not to notice them.

I have given the above stake as undecided, and as such an occurrence may again take place, I give the following facts, as stated by Mr. Temple, that coursers may reflect on the four questions put, and may at some future period be able to give a matured verdict. The facts stand thus :—'After an undecided course Twirl and Bess were put into the slips for the dividing course of the stakes, it was then half-past five o'clock, an hour after sunset and cloudy. I went up to the nominator of Bess, and said this must be unsatisfactory; will you divide? He declined. I then rode up to my servant, and told him to take my bitch out of the slips, but before he could do so a hare sprung up and the dogs were slipped. I was riding away, but hearing the buzz I turned round, not being one hundred yards from the slipper, but could not see neither dogs nor hare. I then rode up and asked the judge if he meant to decide; he hesitated, and then said "The fawn, I think." They were both entered as red, and were so, but one lighter in colour than the other. I said, why they have collars, and if you decide, you should decide according to them. His reply was, "I could not see the collars, and I don't know them." The judge, another person, refused to judge the next course, and those stakes were divided. The questions I wish you to answer for our guidance are these :—

1st. Is it a case which ought to be referred to the stewards?

2nd. In strictness ought the decision to stand?

3rd. As between sportsman and sportsman ought the stakes to be divided? or (what I would prefer)

4th. Ought the dogs to run it out and the winner take the Stakes?

As this matter affects those who have bets on the race as well as myself, I think it right thus publicly to raise this question.'

The above confirms my long cherished opinion, that there wants the formation of a Union of the different Clubs throughout the kingdom, by a Committee from each, to meet annually, say at the Waterloo gathering, to regulate this and other matters of utility to the coursing public.

* Mr. O. Edwards having entered Aggravation, omitting (lt. Idol), the meeting unanimously determined that he had, according to rule made at the Thatched Tavern, in the year 1828, forfeited his claim to the course; it was therefore given to Abbess. On my referring to the New Laws of Coursing, as promulgated 1838, at the Thatched House Tavern, St. James street, on Saturday the 3rd day of June, the Earl of Stradbroke in the chair, I find Rule VII to be a penalty of 5 Sovs., and not the forfeiture of the course, and consequently claim to the Stakes: thus, "No person shall run a Greyhound by a name different from that in which he has appeared in public, without first giving notice of such [illegible] penalty of Five Sovereigns." There was one course on the third day, in the fourth class, for the Harlaw Cup, which deserves our special notice—that with Felix and What's-your-wull—of such an unprecedented length Mr. Nightingale declared he had rarely witnessed, nor had he ever ridden after two "gamer dogs." They were slipped near the pond at the west end of the moor, and turned and worked the hare in such a way as to leave the spectators in doubt as to which would win the course, till at length old puss bounded away for her life, and led her pursuers until first one dropped and then the other, both being perfectly done up; the hare having been turned from her track by a ploughman, came back to where the dogs lay, when they up and made another attempt; but nature was too much exhausted for them to continue the strife, and she eventually escaped—an unusual thing against two such gallant foes. The run must have been four miles in length, although, in the opinion of some, it was nearer five; and, as a matter of course, Felix, to whom was awarded the victory, had no chance against his more fortunate opponent in the next and concluding course for the cup. It may be worth while to remark, that Old Monarch is the grandsire of What's-your-wull and Felix, the former by What out of Queen of the May, and the latter by Mr. Raimes's Douglas, out of Marchioness by Monarch, out of Kate, Kate by Old Mack, sire of Rattler and Rainbow, and of many other winners.

(623.) THE CHAMPION CUP.

A most unfortunate occurrence unhappily marred the sport of the second day in the running for this cup, which, from the nature of the stake, and the fact of only two dogs being entered for it, was even more annoying than otherwise would have been—though any way, the destruction of two fine dogs was a matter of regret. The Judge and Slipper being ignorant of the existence of a quarry, unfortunately slipped Reindeer and Gleemaiden close by it. The hare at once darted off in the direction of the quarry, and being hard pressed, immediately jumped over the steepest part,—a perpendicular rock of between 40 and 50 feet; both dogs, without a moment's hesitation, went after her, and were, as might be supposed, so seriously injured as to be obliged to be destroyed. The cup, therefore, was considered has not run for at this meeting.
